

7.1.10

Human Values and Professional Ethics

Necessary measures are taken to ensure that humane values and policies are well followed in Children's University. Most of the time we unconsciously forget the values that are essential in our daily life, and don't worry much about them.

Every year Class-4 employees are given clothes and Diwali gift. Also, if their close relatives die, we go there to express our condolences. In this way we also help financially in the marriage of his children honorary.

Common human values are as under:

1. Brotherhood, friendship, empathy, compassion, and love.
2. Openness, listening, welcoming, acceptance, recognition, and appreciation.
3. Honesty, fairness, loyalty, sharing, and solidarity.
4. Civility, respect, and consideration.

The function of these basic values enable every human to realize or maintain highest or human value for establishing relations of peace and yet it remains indefinable. Its understanding varies according to age (child, teen, adult), to one's education and surrounding culture. It is better assumed when combined with other values: a disposition that is deeper than graciousness, very close to consideration, and approaching appreciation. Truly, to respect someone, one must be able to appreciate some of his/her human qualities, even if one does not appreciate his/her opinions or past behaviour.

It contains emotional and common values such as benevolence, sympathy, consideration, morality, forgiveness, brotherhood, equality, perseverance, respect for others, environmental awareness.

Human Values and Professional Ethics deals with mutual trust, confidence building royal relationships among the employees in the organization. Moreover, it deals with the relationships of humans with 'I' myself, with family, with friends and with society within the organization and outside the organization. It also deals with Samman and suraksha among the human being in our life as well as in the organization.

Every employee is instructed to behave well with everyone in this organization. Programs like Chintan Shibir are organized every year. Programs are organized for students to work from a humanitarian approach.